

CASE STUDY

Fairfax County Stormwater Management Public/Private Infrastructure Assessment Project

Comprehensive multi-year effort to assess the current condition of all stormwater BMPs in Fairfax County, both publicly and privately owned.

Challenge

The County's assessment and subsequent maintenance activities represented an increase in the level of service for these assets, which necessitates increased public awareness of stormwater management issues and concerns, especially if these constituents will be responsible for maintenance.

Solution

Waterford and PBS&J (now Atkins) assisted the County with developing concepts for involvement/outreach efforts geared at informing stakeholders about issues/roles.
